

The Accounting Department at the Kelley School of Business, Indiana University-Bloomington invites applications for open rank non-tenure-track faculty positions to begin fall 2024. We encourage applications from excellent candidates, particularly those who are eager to help us advance the School's diversity, equity, inclusion, and belonging initiatives and programs.

For a candidate to be considered at the Clinical classification, a Ph.D. or DBA degree in Accounting or in a related field, from a nationally reputed university must be completed by no later than August 2024. Candidates to be considered at the Lecturer rank must have a master's degree in Accounting or in a related field. All candidates are required to have significant professional experience. Applicants who have an accounting certification (CPA or CMA), significant professional experience in accounting, and a record of high-quality teaching in accounting are preferred.

Interested candidates should review the application requirements and submit their application at <https://indiana.peopleadmin.com/postings/20232>.

To be considered for a faculty position, candidates are required to submit a Diversity Statement with their application materials. We will not begin to consider applications until November 13, 2023, so candidates wishing full consideration should apply by that date; however, we will continue to consider applications from candidates who apply after that date until we fill the positions.

Candidates should direct any questions to Sonja Rego, Chair, Department of Accounting, Kelley School of Business, 1309 E 10th Street, Bloomington, IN 47405 or sorego@indiana.edu .
